COUNTY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO MEET NEXT AT CANONSBURG

Decision is Reached at Closing Session of Organization Formed Here

GOODWIN ENTERTAINS WELL

Supper Served at 6:30 O'clock by Mrs. C. M. Allen and Assistants is Followed by Rattling Good Talks—Slogan "One Thousand Members."

Canonsburg will be the scene of the next convention of the Washington County Chamber of Commerce, the organization which had its inception at its first meeting in Charleroi Thursday. Thirteen Canonsburg business men came late in the afternoon and when the opportunity was presented at the evening session offered through Edward Smith an earnest invitation to visit Canonsburg. President J. D. Berryman of Charleroi, elected in the afternoon to head the organization, put the motion to accept and the response was with cheers favorable to the idea.

The evening and closing session of the convention was one of the most conspicuous and enjoyable of the entire day at the high school auditorium. It followed a supper in the high school gymnasium served in great style by Mrs. C. M. Allen and a corps of capable helpers from the free library association. About 125 persons were fed at this supper and the menu was one of those old fashioned kind which included chicken, with various kinds of dressing, mashed potatoes, gravy and other delicacies well calculated to make every man's mouth water. During the supper the high school orchestra under Prof. I. T. Daniel's direction played several selections and was heartily applauded.

Evening Talk a Feature.

The bright feature of the evening's program was the programmed address of Walt S. Goodwin of New York city. He lectured and entertained. Mr. Goodwin took up the question of success as measured by business and told why some men succeed and some fail. Among the evils he mentioned were those of indifference, too much emotion in business conduct, too much pessimism and overenthusiasm. He plead that each man should help develop his fellow man since he would get bigger himself in the act. He hit the pessimistic chap hard and said that while the pessimist was gloomily announcing "It can't be done," some optimist was around do-

ANOTHER MURDER IS PLACED ON DOCKETS

Coroner's Jury Formally Accuses Walkertown Foreigner of Killing Another—Circumstances Brought Out at the Inquest

Another murder case was formally placed on the docket of the Washington county courts Thursday afternoon by a coroner's jury sitting in the inquest into the death of George Tocar of Walkertown, near Coal Centre. The jury rendered a verdict charging directly Steve Torda with murder. Torda is under arrest at Washington.

Coroner James T. Heran conducted the investigation at the undertaking establishment of James Hines at Coal Center with Assistant District Attorney Woodward M. Taylor present to assist

The affair resulting in the death of Tocar occurred the morning of February 22 at Walkertown. From the evidence brought out at the inquest Torda has claimed benefits from a Hungarian club to which he belonged. On the Sunday before the killing the club voted down his request on the theory that he had been in shape to go to work and hence was not entitled to the money claimed. Following this on Monday, February 21 Torda grew quarrelsome in disposition and disputed frequently with members of the club about his claim. Monday night he was at the club. Securing two beer bottles while some were about a table he started pounding the table George Tocar growled a little, suggesting that Torca might find something else than a table on which to vent his spite. Torda grabbed Tocar by the throat and pushed him against the wall. He was ejected, but not until he had landed a sound blow on the head of the steward.

Apparently the aggrieved man went outside and waited gun in hand until the egress of members of the party. When they mergd he fired three shots, the story goes, one striking Tocar, another lodging in the arm of Louis Lengai and another going wild. Tocar fell and Torda fled. The former was sent to the hospital and the latter was captured. All engaged in the melee were Hungarians

Entirely out of the ordinary in the sermon which will be delivered according to twentieth century standards by moving pictures at the Coyle theatre Charleroi Thursday and Friday, March 23 and 24. What will add to the presentation in Charleroi is that of the appearance of Nirella's orchestra of 15 pieces, which will play the entire music score for the piece. The first show will begin each day at 1:30 and the evening show at 7:30.

CRYING NEED OF MONONGAHELA VALLEY IS DWELLING HOUSES

MRS. ROUPE, ACCUSED OF THE MURDER OF HUSBAND GETS BAIL

Washington Woman Walks From Jail At Washington a Free Woman For The Time Being.

Mrs. Lillian Roupe, widow of William L. Roupe for whose murder she stands indicted, walked from the jail about noon Thursday and to the clerk of court's office, from where, after bond for $7,500 had been given, as required under the order of court, she went forth a free woman, at least until the trial of her case in May.

Thomas Moss of Canonsburg, her father, who has stood faithfully by his daughter during all her trouble; Daniel Staley of Washington, R. D. 2 and Henry Jacobs of Jefferson avenue, Washington, are the bondsmen. They put up security in the sum of $7,500. After Mrs. Roupe had been brought from the jail, where she had been a prisoner, since a few hours after that fatal night in her home on December 31, 1915 it took only a short time to give the required recognizance.

She still insists that she did not fire the shot that caused her husband's death, nothwithstanding his dying statement that she had killed him. She will stay with Canton township friends until her trial.

Donora, Monessen and Monongahela Could Use 1,800 So They Say

CHARLEROI NEED IS 100

That is Conservative Estimate And Charleroi Draws From Many Sections—Reason For Need is Rapid Industrial Development.

The crying need of the Monongahela valley is dwelling houses. Promptly upon the announcement that the Charleroi Business Men's Association was planning a movement to secure industrial dwellings to close up vacant spaces along streets and to provide much needed living quarters, nearby towns began to report their needs.

Donora first came to the bat with an average of 800 to 1,000. Monessen and Monongahela appeared close in order right behind Donora. Monessen feels if could rent out 800 houses if somebody would tuck them away on vacant lots through that borough and the only city in Washington county, which of course is Monongahela, feels it could get along with 200 more dwellings.

Not counting Charleroi from 1,500 to 2,000 houses, according to conservative figures, could be immediately rented were they available in Donora, Monessen and Monongahela. If Charleroi, had 100 new up-to-date houses it could rent every one of them. This figure is not out of proportion and is conservative and Charleroi differs from each of the other three towns. The reason for the need hereabouts is the rapid industrial development now going on.

WOUNDS MAN THEN STAYS TO RENDER TREATMENT

Patsy Columbus, though "madder than a hornet" Thursday night at Monessen remembered Shakespeare's sentiment that the "qualities of mercy are not strained" and remained to bind up Giovanni Chiera's wounds after he and his brother, Angelo Columbus had beaten up Chiera, shot him in the leg and broken the leg. Angelo fled. Patsy bound up Chiera with the tenderness of a Florence Nightingale, then summoned a doctor. Then while Patsy was submitting to arrest, Chiera was taken to the Memorial hospital at Monongahela. The men quarreled over some trivial matter.

SELF DENIAL CLASS ENTERTAINED THURSDAY

Miss Marion Benedict entertained members of the Self Denial class of the Washington avenue church at the church Thursday evening. Piano solos by Miss Marguerite Whitbeck and Miss Lulu Buffle were a part of the evening's entertainment. The St. Patrick's Day colors were carried out in the luncheon and decorations. Small green flags were given as favors.

SOME REASONS WHY.

In seeking the causes of the high and advancing costs of living, says the Philadelphia Record, newspapers full of current news often throw interesting sidelights upon the problem. Take, for instance, the statement of the vice president of the United Mine Workers' of America that his organization aims to secure a four-hour working day for its members, but with the pay of course that has been given to an eight or ten-hour day. Output is to be diminished but the cost of production is to be maintained. The burden of the increased cost of coal under such conditions would fall naturally upon the general public.

Of a piece with such a statement is that of a popular lecturer, a so-called psychiatrist, that in order to keep up the efficiency of public school teachers they should begiven every third week as a vacation. This would necessarily involve the employment of one-third more teachers at the taxpayers' expense. And why confine this beneficient reform to pedagogues? Why should not everybody dawdle away a third of his working time in order to keep his mind fresh and alert? Let the other fellow pay for this loss of production in higher prices for everything.

A popular movie star has just signed a contract (according to his new employers) by which he is to receive $520,000 a year or seven times as much as the president of the United States. President Schwab of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, says he is glad to give bonuses of half a million or a million dollars to faithful employes. In New York, according to the committee, the presidents of traction companies though liberally compensated, demand bonuses of $100,000 to $150,000 for extra services.

Is it any wonder that the cost of living keeps jumping? Lots of workmen want to loaf most of their time, and others seated in high places exact princely rewards for their precious time and brains. Between the two extremes the great mass of the American people have to grin and bear it as best they can.

LAW AGAINST CATS.

New Jersey is outlawing stray cats. A bill has just passed the state assembly imposing a license fee on all cats. Any feline pet found at large will be subject to immediate execution unless he or she wears a license tag by way of credentials, remarks the Paxsutawney Spirit. Thus domestic cats will be separated from the strays and the latter eliminated.

The bill has been pushed by the Audubon Society, which is interested in cats primarily as they affect birds and other forms of wild life. The society argues that the stray cat is an unmitigated nuisance. It prowls about preying on the birds and animals which give charm to our woods and field and keep down insect pests. More than that the "cat that walks by himself" is charged with being a pestilential spreader of infectious diseases, and responsible for many epidemics among both animals and the human population.

Enough citizens of New Jersey seem to have been converted by such arguments to provide adequate support for the measure. Most owners of house pets favored the measure, when its purpose was explained because it promises to protect their own cats from evil associates and to give them a respectable status.

The plan is likely to be followed in other states. It seems absurd, when once our attention is called to it, that vagabond cats should be tolerated when we do not tolerate unlicensed dogs and when cats appear to be more objectionable than dogs for both hygienic and economic reasons.

Speaking of automobile ordinances the Saturday Evening Post offers the following: "'Speed limit, ten miles an hour' is the sign that faces you at the city boundary and in the next ten minutes a dozen cars go by you at twenty miles an hour. We should say offhand that hardly one community out of fifty lives up to its automobile regulations. Spasmodic enforcement of local laws is a constant source of grief to motorists. You cut across the street intersection forty-nine days in succession and on the fiftieth day you are arrested for not turning in a square corner. Naturally you are offended. Another affliction is the absence of signs. In some towns you may park your car anywhere you please, in others the same general aspect and with no warning sign, you near a fire plug. Your muffler cut-out is tolerated nuisance in half a dozen towns, while in the next one its use is a misdemeanor; but there is no sign to tell you the difference. Signs cost little too. The beginning of automobile regulations for any town should be: 'Say plainly what you mean and stick to it.'"

"That is my opinion. Twenty-five dollars, please."

"I got the same opinion from another lawyer and he charged me $5."

"Um. You had no confidence in him."

"N-no."

"But you have in me?"

"Y-yes."

"Precisely. Our opinions are the same, but the difference in the cost is $20, and to have confidence in your case is well worth $20. This war is a terrible affair is it not?"—Washington Star.

There had been a fatal accident at the railway crossing in a town in Iowa and the coroner, a pompous old chap, who magnified both his office and its incumbent, had empaneled a jury for the inquest.

There was only one witness of the accident, an illiterate Slav laborer, who could understand no English. With him the coroner began to struggle.

"Can you speak English?" he asked.

The man shook his head.

"Can you speak German?"

Again the man shook his head.

"Can you speak Italian?"

The same response.

"Can you speak Rossian? Can you speak Swedish" were the next questions to both of which the man signified in the negative.

"It's no use, gentlemen," said the coroner, turning to the jury. "We can't proceed with the case. I've spoken to this man in five different languages and can't make him understand me."—Harper's Magazine.

ing it. Concerning mail order houses and their activities he said this: "The mail order house is a live house and the average country store is a dead one," his argument being that the country merchant would have to be awake and doing to beat out the mail order concern. On enthusiasm he said, "Enthusiasm without judgment is suicide."

Impromptu Entertinment Furnished.

Mr. Goodwin, having missed an early train was late in arriving at the high school building and the time was filled up by impromptu entertainment, which however added considerable spice. The ever popular John Jenkins was called upon by President Berryman for stories and the way in which he responded brought down the house.

A brief business session was held during which time the Canonsburg delegation presented their invitation for the next convention and a collection taken up as the result of a motion for the payment of some of the expense in connection with the Charleroi meeting. A motion was put by Frank Perthel of Washington congratulating Charleroi upon the style of entertainment it had furnsihed and particularly upon the work of high school orchestra. The motion was passed and the high school orchestra cheered. In return one of the favorite high school yells was given by that organization. The slogan of the convention was announced by President Berryman, "One thousand members by the time of the next convention."

There was still time remaining and the newly elected secretary-treasurer, Charles M. Ketchum, was calld upon by Prsident Berryman to fill in the time. He told a number of stories, being interrupted by the arrival of the speaker of the evening.

Officers Elected in Afternoon.

One of the chief feaures of the entire day was the election of officers which came well along in the afternoon. The following were chosen as the first list to head the county organization: President J. D. Berryman Charles M. Ketchum of Washington; first vice president, W. M. McMurray of Burgettstown; second vice president O. G. Frazier of Donora; third vice president, C. N. Savage of California; directors, L. Ochs of Washington, George B. Sprowls of Claysville and E. J. Donley of Canonsburg.

Keynote Address.

The keynote address was delivered by Charles M. Ketchum, secretary of the Washington Board of Trade. He outlined the possibilities of a county chamber of commerce as an aid in civic movements of all kinds; to the manufacturing interests by having a survey made of raw materials, an inventory of all factories taken, advertising the advantages the county offers to industries and as a medium to secure information concerning prospective new industries; to the commercial life by the establishment of an efficient collective credit system, development of schemes to foster the friendship of customers and the advancement of new ideas for keeping the dollars of the buying public at home instead of allowing $3,500,000 annually to go to mail order houses; to the agricultural districts and residents by cooperating with the county agricultural bureau; in securing better traffic facilities by road, steam and trolley and in keeping tab on the legislation that is enacted at Harrisburg when the legislature is in session by means of bulletins; in brief to make the chamber a clearing house for the common interests of the county.

Smedley and Rauh Speak.

Following Secretary Ketchum at the afternoon meeting William Smedley of Philadelphia occupied 20 minutes with a rattling good talk on the subject of "Displaying, Advertising and Distrbution of Merchandise." Mr. Smedley touched especially on the affairs of merchants. He advocated care but progressiveness in displaying, advertising and distributing merchandise and advocated especially that they develop tact and see that the service rendered the public was always of the highest standard.

Councilman Enoch Rauh followed Mr. Smedeley describisg the work of the Pittsburg Credit Association and applying it to the needs of the retailers. He said there was no need of the wholesale house losing any money and that retailers could say the same thing if they employed the proper system. He advocated the need of plenty of fire insurance on buildings and merchandise.

J. M. McKee, county agriculturalist and R. L. Munce, a former county commissioner and widely known agriculturalist spoke concerning agricultural conditions.

Until the election of officers Guy Moffitt Esq., presided as chairman of the meeting with J. Russell Blythe as secetary. They retired in favor of President Berryman and Secretary Ketchum.

Plans will be instituted at once for carrying out some of the suggestions presented to the convention and the intention is to make the Washington County Chamber of Commerce an active body in county business affairs as a means of promoting development of the entire county During the afternoon and evening many came from a distance to attend the convention and the valley was well represented. There were men here from all parts of the county so that the fame will spread.

"Why It Has Restored My Health so Perfectly That it Seems a Miracle."

"Yes sir, this Tanlac beats anything I have ever before used," declared F. P. Shively, a well-known salesman who lives at 1007 Third St., Juniata, Pa.

"I had no idea it was so good. Why it has restored my health so perfectly that it seems more like a miracle than anything else.

"I had suffered from stomach trouble. My indigestion was out of sorts. I couldn't eat. Whenever I did try to take anything solid I would suffer from gas on my stomach and a sickening feeling that lasted for several hours afterward.

"My nerves were also out of gear, and I couldn't sleep sound and restful at night. I would wake up in the morning feeling heavy and languid, and I could scarcely muster up enough energy to get up and dress myself. I seldom ever could eat breakfast

"After using two bottles of Tanlac my stomach seems in perfect shape. I can eat good and never slept better in all my life. My weight has been increased three pounds by Tanlac. I simply can' get enough to eat now."

Tanlac is now sold in Charleroi exclusively by Piper Bros., where the premier preparation can be had.

The Famous Roll Door "Hoosier Beauty"

The Panama-Pacific Judges awarded the Highest Honor and Gold Medal to Hoosier because of its Superior Construction and Unrivaled Convenience.

Hoosier's Shaker Flour Sifter makes flour fluffy and light ;works faster than most sifters; avoids grit or broken wire; can't wear out.

Hoosier's Double-Acting Sugar Bin is the only bin from which sugar can be taken with equal ease from top or bottom. It has three times the capacity of most bins.

These are only two of the many prize-winning features. Come see them all demonstrated at our store tomorrow. Please come in the morning if possible—for the Saturday crowd on this last day will tax our facilities in the afternoon.

AMONG THE THEATRES

PALACE—CHARLEROI

Two good vaudeville programs were presented at the Palace theatre this week. The first three days of the week the opening act of the bill was Ott a ventriloquist of ability. He also exhibited a trained dog that entertained with its remarkable tricks.

A troupe programmed as the Four Arcadian posers gave a number of famous French, German and American works of sculpture The Roys entertained pleasantly with singing and dancing. Wright and Anderson comedians were on the program the last of the week and delighted large audiences. Lockhart Woods and Lockhart a trio of cabaret singers and comedians presented high class comedy and E. T. Alexander entertained with his lightning paintings. In addition to the vaudeville programs motion pictures were presented each evening among the best were "The Man He Should Have Been," "Souls of Satan" and the weekly instalment of the Hazard of Helen series.

COYLE—CHARLEROI

Nance O'Neil and Stuart Holmes shared honors in "The Witch" a Fox production which was shown at the Coyle theatre Monday. This was a powerful picturization of a wild and entrancing story. Tuesday Dustin Farnum was presented in "The Call of the Cumberlands" a story of the feudal activities of natives of the Cumberland mountains. Mary Miles Minter, the youngest star actress in the world appeared in "Dimples" which was shown Wednesday. Pauline Frederick the noted emotional actress enacted the leading role of "The Spider" a drama of rare power and appeal which was shown Thursday. Saturday "Firing the Butler or the Butler Fired" will be shown. Then on Thursday and Friday of next week "The Battle Cry of Peace" the powerful picture endorsing the national appeal of preparedness will be shown. Nirella and his orchestra of fifteen talented musicians will furnish the music at each performance of this picture.

MAJESTIC—CHARLEROI

Monday the attraction at the Majestic theatre was "The Siren's Song," a wonderful picture with Mlle Diane and Charles Trowbridge in the leading role. Douglas Fairbanks appeared in "Double Trouble" a Triangle feature which was shown Tuesday. "A Janitor's Wife's Temptation," a comedy picture was also shown Tuesday. Probably the greatest attraction of the week was "Madame X" a screen version of the novel by the same name. Dorothy Donnelly appeared in the leading part of this great picture which was a vivid tale of true mother love. Carlyle Blackwell another motion picture favorite was starred in "The Clarion" a picture of the struggle to uplift by a young man of moderate circumstances, shown Thursday. One of the interesting announcements of coming events is the show announced for Saturday Bessie Derriscale will be shown in "The Golden Claw" and Weber and Fields comedians will feature "The Best of Enemies."

BOTTLING AN EGG.

Easy Trick That Makes Plain Some Principles of Physics.

If you place an egg on the neck of a carafe almost any one would say that it is impossible to put the egg into the carafe whole. Yet it can be done, and at the same time an important principle in air pressure can be proved.

First have the egg boiled hard and then peel it. Make a torch of folded paper, light and push it into the carafe. After it has burned almost out place the egg on the neck of the carafe, small end downward, so that it acts as a stopper. But be sure you do not push it at all.

The heat of the burning paper has by this time driven much of the air out of the carafe and heated what remains inside. When it has finally burned out the carafe will begin to cool, the air in it becomes cooler and therefore takes up much less space. The pressure of the atmospheric air outside of the bottle is exerted upon the egg, which lengthens out gradually and at last drops into the carafe with a loud "plump."

In this way several important points in physics are made plain. First it is seen how heat rarifies the air and when the air in the carafe cools creates a partial vacuum. Then is proved the fact of atmospheric pressure by the way in which the egg acts. At last we see the egg forced into the carafe, so that the air from without may fill the vacant spaces.—Exchange.

Many Recoveries From Lung Trouble

Eckman's Alterative has restored to health many sufferers from lung trouble. Read what it did in this case:—

Wilmington, Del.

"Gentlemen:—In January, 1908, I was taken with hemorrhages of the lungs. My physician, a leading practitioner, said that it was lung trouble. I got very weak. C. A. Lippincott, of Lippincott's Department Store, Wilmington, Del., recommended Eckman's Alterative that had done great good. I began taking it at once. I continued faithfully, using no other remedy, and finally noticed the clearing of the lungs. I now have no trouble with my lungs. I firmly believe Eckman's Alterative saved my life." (Abbreviated.)

HUSBAND SAVED HIS WIFE

Stopped Most Terrible Suffering by Getting Her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Denison, Texas. — "After my little girl was born two years ago I began suffering with female trouble and could hardly do my work. I was very nervous but just kept dragging on until last summer when I got where I could not do my work. I would have a chill every day and hot flashes and dizzy spells and my head would almost burst. I got where I was almost a walking skeleton and life was a burden to me until one day my husband's stepsister told my husband if he did not do something for me I would not last long and told him to get your medicine. So he got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for me, and after taking the first three doses I began to improve. I continued its use, and I have never had any female trouble since. I feel that I owe my life to you and your remedies. They did for me what doctors could not do and I will always praise it wherever I go."—Mrs. G. O. LOWERY, 419 W. Monterey Street, Denison, Texas.

If you are suffering from any form of female ills, get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and commence the treatment without delay.

Only three or four more days of Winter and then will come Spring with all the freshness of the vegetable world. Soon now the buds and leaves will come out on the trees and Spring will be here in all its beauty. Winter and winter clothes will be laid aside. The new Dress-up time begins —so we urge you to come now while the stocks are filling up in all their newness. Take a little time and see these handsome new wearables. Next week we have an opening when all over the store we dress up every department in the new spring goods.

Our new dress goods and silks have arrived this week and we will show our usual good line of the best, most stable and reliable weaves of dress goods and silks. We find that it pays to stick to reliable old line makes, and so in these war times as it becomes harder to procure merchandise, one is tempted to abandon old and seek new manufacturers, but we have been more determined than ever to maintain the standard of excellence.

The quality must be right so we again offer you the same standard of high quality goods —some at old prices while others are advanced. We have used every endeavor to keep these advances within reason, and we have been able by placing orders long in advance to keep large quantities of merchandise at the old retail prices.

Silks have advanced quite a great deal and we consider ourselves fortunate in being able to show you complete ranges of silks at not very heavy advances.

The Sewing Time is here, come today and see our lines of Silks and Dress Goods. See if your home store is not able to compete in quality and price with city stores. Ask us to prove it.

KING OF URBAN TREES.

Qualities That Adopt the Elm to Architectural Surroundings.

The elm is essentially a self sufficient tree. It does not thrive in groves. It has a standard type of form, and it either attains this type or is lost to view. The elm which comes to maturity is usually the one which has lodged in a favored spot where there is no competition, such as a river meadow, where the spring freshets have dropped the seed on fertile soil and the roots can get down to water.

We all know the type—a noble trunk of massive girth tapering very gradually upward to the first spring of branches and then dissolving into those branches as a water jet might dissolve in many upward and out curving streams till the whole is lost in the spray of the foliage. Like many other trees that grow alone it develops an exquisite symmetry. But with the elm this symmetry is not only one of general contour, but of individual limbs. Not only is the silhouette symmetrical, but the skeleton also, branch balancing branch.

That is what gives it its remarkable fitness to comport with architectural lines, with geometrically designed vistas. It has a formal structure and a consequent dignity which make it the logical shade for a village street, a chapel, a library, the scholarly procession in cap and gown. Add to that dignity its arched and airy lightness and its splendid size and you have the king of urban trees.—Walter Prichard Eaton in Century.

A LUCKY STONE.

Maybe the Part It Played Was Merely That of Coincidence.

In his book, "The Magic of Jewels and Charms," George F. Kunz relates this little story of a lucky stone and the adventures of its owners:

"Some years ago a meteorite was given to Edward Heron Allen, the famous writer on palmistry and the violin, and this gifted man always wore it about him. One morning he awakened to find that the entire roof above him had fallen in, except just that portion over his bed.

"He told the story to one of the best known ladies in Boston, one who is known for her public spirit, her love of art and her faultless manner of entertaining. This lady successfully urged Allen to give her the meteorite.

"A few days later, while out driving, a great truck with two runaway horses attached to it struck her carriage. Instinctively she raised her muff to protect her face. The muff was almost cut in two, but the lady was not hurt. A few days later, while she was walking under some scaffolding, it fell, and the open part where the hoists went up proved to be just where she stood. Although surrounded by ruin, she remained unharmed."

Whether the stone was a factor in averting disaster to its owners in their moments of peril is, however, a matter apart from the facts in the case.

How to Quit Smoking.

Do not light the first cigar less than half an hour after breakfast. The more difficult this delay may be the more need there is for a cure. The remainder of the day smoke the same as usual. It is only the first cigar with which we are dealing. Keep this up for a week, then lengthen the interval to an hour for another week, then make it one and a half hours, two, two and a half, and so on. If you have an "all gone" sensation, a longing for something, eat an orange or apple or almost any kind of fruit, but don't smoke until the time is up. The nerves, being deprived of their morning stimulant, are crying for nourishment, which nature is hastening to supply through increased appetite to supply digestion. By the time the first cigar is entirely eliminated the cure is effected with no serious derangement of the heart or digestive apparatus.—Exchange.

Lost His Bearings.

It was an English skipper of the olden time who, having knowledge beyond the seeming needs, as he could read and use the charts, was dispatched to Rotterdam. The skipper had never been to Rotterdam before, so after getting over the bar and well away to the east he produced his charts and made a learned inspection, but the charts had been a long time in the locker and circumstances combined to alarm him extremely. He went up on deck and called to his mate, "Put her about; the rats have eaten Holland!"

A Reasonable Propositon.

Bumper—You owe me $30,000, which you say you can't pay. Why don't you marry Miss Oldgirl? She's worth twice that amount. Jumper—No; I can't do that. But you might marry her yourself and pay me the difference.—Fliegende Blaetter.

SUGGESTIONS TO WOMEN

Who Are "Just Ready To Drop"

When you are "just ready to drop," when you feel so weak that you can hardly drag yourself about—and because you have not slept well, you get up as tired-out next morning as when you went to bed, you need help. You can get it just as Mrs. Maxwell did. She says:—

"I keep house for my little family of three and became completely run-down. I was weak, nervous and could not sleep; finally I was unable to do my house-work. A friend asked me to try Vinol. I did so and improved rapidly. It toned up my system, I regained my strength am no longer nervous, sleep well and do all my housework." Mrs. J. C. Maxwell, Montgomery, Ala.

There is no secret about Vinol. It owes its success to the medicinal extractives of fresh cod livers, tonic iron and beef peptone, the oldest and most famous body-building and strength-creating tonics.

So many letters like the above are continually coming to our attention, that we freely offer to return the money paid for Vinol in every case where it fails to give satisfaction. Pipers Drug Store.
